Doug McKinley, Chief of Police

January 21, 2016

Platteville Residents
Council President Eileen Nickels
Common Council Members
Police & Fire Commissioners
City Manager Karen Kurt

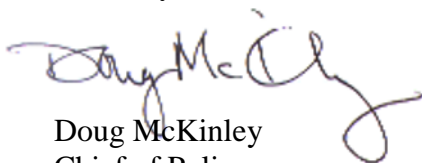

Residents, Council Members, Commissioners, and Ms. Kurt,

2015 was a year in which police use of force incidents throughout the nation remained in the headlines. The perceived lack of transparency during the investigation of these incidents and a lack of connection with communities served by the involved police agencies led to intervention by the Federal Government and calls for independent investigations and greater community oversight of law enforcement agencies. Acts of terrorism and active shooter incidents ruled the headlines as well and served as grim reminders that bad things can and will take place in the United States and elsewhere.

Locally at the Police Department we proved the only constant we can count on is that we will experience significant changes in our workforce. This change is difficult because we end up saying good bye to longtime friends and employees with a great deal of institutional knowledge but it also allows us to bring new people on board along with their new ideas and enthusiasm for the field of law enforcement. Perhaps the biggest concern with losing employees is the difficulty with attracting and hiring their replacements. Our experience mimics the national and state-wide trend in which law enforcement agencies are seeing fewer and fewer applicants for police positions. Some of this can be traced to the media's negative portrayal of police officers but other factors contribute to this trend and we need to identify them and take steps to reduce or eliminate them.

Please take the time to read through our Annual Report. It contains statistics on crime and calls for service drawn from our community. It also features our current staff and sworn officers. If you have questions after reading this document please contact me at the Platteville Police Department at 608-348-2313 or via e-mail at mckinleyd@platteville.org.

Sincerely,

Doug McKinley
Chief of Police
