Platteville Residents
Council President Barb Daus
Common Council Members
Police & Fire Commissioners
City Manager Langreck

Residents, Council Members, Commissioners, and City Manager Langreck,

At least two of the three projects I discussed in last year's annual report cover letter still need to be completed. We encountered a significant delay with the installation of our radio repeater on the new Grant County radio tower on County Highway D due to problems with Grant County's overall radio tower project. We now hope to see this project completed in mid-2024. We have made significant progress on our camera project, and we still plan to have cameras installed at two more intersections in the city. We have already seen the benefits of our cameras as they were instrumental in helping our officers identify a suspect in a significant investigation. Our new radio computer server has been installed, our staff has been trained on it and we are working on achieving the full functionality of the system by working through a few remaining issues with the transition to the new equipment.

In 2024 we plan to place an emphasis on preparing and training our staff for school and workplace incidents involving threats of violence and/or on-going incidents. We have already started this task by having our officers tour some of the academic and residential buildings on the UW-Platteville campus. We intend to continue to familiarize our officers with new and remodeled buildings throughout the city and we plan to actively train in some of these locations as well.

We are due to renew our accreditation status through the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Accreditation Group (WILEAG) in October. We were first accredited three years ago, and we have seen our entire staff adapt well to the concept of accreditation. Internally we have seen an enhancement of our professionalism and how we do business on a daily basis, and I believe accreditation has also positively impacted how we serve the community.

Based on how the presidential election went in 2020 we are expecting 2024 to be somewhat chaotic although we're hoping we don't have to implement pandemic protocols for our in-person voting in the city.

We're starting 2024 fully staffed in our Dispatch Center and at the sworn officer level albeit with 20 officers instead of the 21 we were previously authorized and budgeted for. Recruiting new officers and telecommunicators is a long, time-consuming process and we would much rather retain the talent we have than experience vacancies and spend time searching for replacement officers and telecommunicators. With this in mind, the City negotiated a new three-year union contract with the officers and implemented a new compensation plan for the non-union employees of the City. We're hopeful this will translate into increased employee retention as the City makes progress towards remaining competitive with other employers in the area and in the field of policing and emergency dispatching.

As always, in the report accompanying this letter you will find information regarding the staff of the Platteville Police Department and what we did in 2023. Please look me up if you have questions or concerns.

Sincerely,

Doug McKinley
Chief of Police
Platteville Police Department

Telecommunicators

The Public Safety Telecommunicators answer telephones for the following city departments and other agencies: The Platteville Police Department, Southwest Health Ambulance Service, Platteville Fire Department, UW-Platteville Police, emergency elevator telephones throughout the city, and all City of Platteville Offices (when those offices are closed). The phones include the Enhanced 911 (E911) system that immediately displays the name, phone number, address and directions to the location of the phone making the call. The E-911 database allows the Telecommunicator to enter information that is pertinent to the location or customer. The Platteville Police Dispatch Center receives in excess of 1,500 incoming 911 calls (this is separate from the non-emergency business line they also answer 24/7).

The Telecommunicators communicate with all the previously listed agencies using the following radio systems: Platteville City Government, Platteville Fire, Southwest Health Center, UW-Platteville, Grant County Sheriff, County Simulcast Paging System and Point to Point (connecting all police agencies). The Telecommunicators can also monitor WISPERN.

The Telecommunicators dispatch in excess of 14,000 police, fire, and ambulance calls per year. Public Safety Telecommunicators also enter and retrieve information in and from the State and National Crime databases, vehicle registration files and driver's license files. This information includes criminal activity, missing persons and stolen property. This national computer system allows this department to share information with the nation's law enforcement and criminal justice agencies. The Support Services Commander supervises the Telecommunicators.

In addition to their dispatching duties, the Telecommunicators handle a variety of complex tasks. The tasks include entering on average 300 warrants per year to include monthly validations of all warrants, and completing over 300 background checks for other city departments. They also serve as a point of contact for the public when the business office is closed. Because the Platteville Police Department Dispatch Center is staffed 24/7, they also serve as a layer of security for the department by monitoring the internal security cameras for prisoner safety, officer safety, unauthorized persons on premises, proper conduct by persons on premises, and building security. All Telecommunicators are also notary publics, offering that service 24/7 as well.

School Crossing Helpers! →

A crossing guard was Santa once before,
so this year he said, "let's do it once more!"

The Grinch in his grinchness all green and so mean,
Showed up to meddle and make a big scene!

Santa waved and greeted with, "Ho Ho Ho,"
The Grinch scowled and teased, but we all know,

That the Grinch deep down was not so bad,
Being a crossing guard, in fact, made him less mad!

He still goofed and taunted the man in red,
"But helping the kids is best," is what he said.

Grinch with many of his new friends at Neal Wilkins Elementary School. Some of the kids kept an eye on him just to be sure he didn't pull a fast one!
